

InMoment in the CX Marketplace

Making sense of the customer experience (CX) marketplace and its constant growth can be challenging—but we're here to help! This guide will help you better understand InMoment's unique stance in the vendor landscape.

THE MARKETPLACE

The customer experience (CX) industry is growing rapidly by approximately 20 percent per year. This staggering growth rate has led to the rise of a host of companies serving the CX space, as well as analyst firms that cover the space. Organizations, vendors, and analysts must work hard to keep up with this ever-changing, evolving market. Organizations are demanding more and better connections to customers, which is driving the rapid adoption of new technologies and experience program practices.

DON'T GET PIGEONHOLED

Just as an experience program is much more than a single metric, the CX marketplace cannot be characterized by a single report or score. When considering a CX or EX vendor, program owners should look to those with a broad range of capabilities, third-party validation from services and technology, and a leader in the industry. At InMoment, we focus on actually improving experiences so our clients can prove the business value, impact, and ROI of their programs and achieve their desired outcomes.

They also praise the vendor’s partnership and focus on delivering outcomes. ### InMoment: Named Leader in The Forrester New Wave™ EX Management Platforms For Large Enterprises

InMoment & MaritzCX received differentiated scores in the EX report. The report identified InMoment as having a good fit for the many scenarios where EX programs begin as outgrowths of CX programs, clever AI-driven analysis capabilities for shaping behavior, strong trend analysis capabilities, useful recommendations, considerable flexibility to tailor surveys and the presentation of insights, good social listening integration, advanced data transformation and workflow capabilities, and CX heritage and EX solution maturity. InMoment makes it easy to identify and act on these links between CX and EX, while some of our competitors do not provide detailed analysis or make it simple to understand what actions to take. We use the same data science for both CX and EX, providing clients with a consistent user experience across both programs and the ability to seamlessly switch between the two.

“The solution has much of what large enterprises are looking for – including advanced data transformation and workflow capabilities.”

A BROADER VIEW AND UNIQUE APPROACH

When evaluating the CX marketplace, practitioners should consider a vendor that understands how to future-proof the business, drive business impact, and improve operational performance. Most vendors only focus on technology or services—InMoment excels by having a unique approach.

MOVING BEYOND MEASUREMENT TO IMPROVEMENT

Customer experience has largely stagnated in a measurement, management environment. The days of simply tracking NPS are in the past; today's brands need to be able to understand how to improve different types of experiences, not simply measure and manage them. Metrics are often seen as critical to understanding the success of a brand's experience. The problem is that beyond providing a basic set of measuring devices, they don't provide much—if any—actionable intelligence. They can only tell you where you are and where you've been, not necessarily how or why you got there, or where to go next. Without the support of meaningful analysis, metrics are just a measuring stick. This is why we've moved to an Experience Improvement (XI) approach to customer experience.

RAPID GROWTH VALIDATES OUR APPROACH

InMoment has experienced massive growth in the past few years. In fact, our software revenue grew by an industry-leading percentage, and we achieved a greater than 107 percent client retention rate. That's because real-world businesses running programs to improve experiences selected InMoment after careful consideration, analysis, and review.

As mentioned earlier in this paper, the CX marketplace is in fluctuation and analysts, experts, and businesses struggle to widen their view quickly enough to encompass the future direction and movement of the marketplace. InMoment is the only vendor to be ranked in both technology and expert services reports. This combined with our rapid customer growth and retention validates our unique position in the CX landscape as the only company ready to drive modern, high-value Experience Improvement (XI) programs.

INMOMENT HELPS BRANDS REALIZE ROI

...And we do so in a variety of ways from built-in models that show ROI and impact on metrics, predictive analytics that highlight revenue at risk, case management that helps in real-time customer rescue, as well as linkage analysis and advanced analytics that outline strategic intelligence and connections between customer experience and other data to understand the impact of customer and employee experience on business performance.

IF YOU DON'T KNOW US, ALLOW US TO INTRODUCE OURSELVES

Improving experiences is why InMoment exists. Our mission is to help our clients improve experiences at the intersection of value—where customer, employee, and business needs come together. At the heart of what we do is connect our clients with what matters most through a unique combination of data, technology, and human expertise. With our hyper-modern technology platform, decades of domain authority, and global teams of experts, we uniquely deliver a focus on Experience Improvement (XI) to help our clients own the moments that matter.

Our Experience Improvement (not management) approach provides context to feedback at the intersection of value—identifying what's important to customers, employees, and the business. Our expertise enables brands to align their CX and EX programs with business goals, prioritize actions, determine and monitor impact of change, address issues, and celebrate successes—all leading to true Experience Improvement.
